Introductions

Review of legislative report

- Introduction, e.g.,
 - “...foraging is a recognized recreational activity and a respected cultural practice deeply rooted in MN history and tradition”
 - TF values (conservation, increased access...)
 - Background on enabling legislation
 - Areas of expertise/communities represented by members
- Meetings and methodology
 - Data informing the recommendations (TF interviews, TF meetings, public listening sessions)
 - Recommendation development/review process
- Approved recs (possibly with context/narrative around each)
- Conclusion/next steps
- Appendixes, e.g., enabling legislation, TF charter, unapproved recommendations, overview of presentations and testimonies, materials from each meeting

Executive summary of recommendations (1 of 7)

Recommendation 1: Develop a new statute that codifies foraging for personal, non-commercial use as a legitimate recreational and cultural activity on DNR managed state lands and waters.

- The task force recommends a new statute to codify foraging as allowable on DNR managed state lands and waters and to establish definitions for non-commercial personal use, commercial use, honorable harvest, and products allowed to be harvested. The new statute would only require permits for products on a protected species list.

Executive summary of recommendations (2 of 7)

Recommendation 2. Proactive study of foraging and its impacts in Minnesota

- The task force recommends funding to collect data, monitor, and research the impacts of foraging, including an evaluation of statute/rule changes resulting from the task force's work. This proactive study would include partnership with foragers and research experts.

Executive summary of recommendations (3 of 7)

Recommendation 3. Develop education and training to support best management practices for foraging.

- The task force recommends funding to develop foraging education and training for the public using a collaborative approach with DNR and partners. The resources should be easily accessed by the public with no or minimal cost. In addition, the DNR should ensure consistent information and messages are shared internally among staff to support consistent implementation and to reduce potential misunderstandings.

Executive summary of recommendations (4 of 7)

Recommendation 4. Use plain language to provide clear and accessible information that makes it easier for the public to understand statutes and rules on DNR-managed state lands and waters.

- The task force recommends the use of plain language to provide clear and accessible information that makes it easier for the public to understand statutes, rules, and Traditional Ecological Knowledge related to foraging on DNR-managed state lands and waters.

Executive summary of recommendations (5 of 7)

Recommendation 5. Improve DNR's permit process for foraging on DNR-managed state lands and waters.

- The task force recommends funding to improve DNR's permitting systems and processes to increase accessibility and reduce barriers to obtaining permits for the collection of items on the protected species list. Recommended changes include making permits available online, accepting electronic payments, and reducing the cost.

Executive summary of recommendations (6 of 7)

Recommendation 6. Establish a mechanism for DNR to engage regularly with foraging stakeholders

- The task force recommends the DNR establish a mechanism for regular engagement with foraging stakeholders to maintain open lines of communication. Regular engagement helps ensure that foraging statutes and rules stay relevant, are evidence-based, include Traditional Ecological Knowledge, and are responsive to current conditions—supporting both conservation and access goals.

Executive summary of recommendations (7 of 7)

Recommendation 7. Establish a five-year evaluation period during which limits on new foraging policy will apply.

- The task force recognizes that the changes outlined in the recommendations above require time for data collection, monitoring, and research to evaluate ecological, cultural, and economic impacts. This recommendation establishes a defined evaluation period of five years to support collaborative review by the legislature, DNR, and foraging partners before additional policy and regulatory changes are considered.

Ending discussion and reaching closure

A formal process to finalize the recommendations developed by the task force will be followed today:

- Voting will only take place if a simple majority of members is present. With 18 members appointed, the presence of 10 members will be a simple majority and represent quorum.
- Each member shall have one vote, regardless of their affiliation or role on the task force.
- There is no voting by proxy.
- Participants can choose to abstain from a vote.
- The decision to include a recommendation will require a “yes” vote from 80% of voting participants.

While these recommendations are advisory, the task force’s input will inform the decisions of DNR staff, the commissioner of natural resources, and legislative committees with primary jurisdiction over natural resources policy.
